Jake Bailey is the ex-Christchurch Boys' High School senior monitor, whose end of year speech made worldwide headlines after going viral in November 2015. A week before he was due to deliver this speech, Jake fell ill and was diagnosed with Burkitt's Non-Hodgkins Lymphoma, the fastest growing cancer known to man. Now in remission he shares a hugely inspiring and uplifting presentation. Despite Jake's story, the main subject is not cancer, but rather any hardship people may face in life, and it has helped many people reconcile their own experiences with all variety of adversity.
